

"Necessity is the Mother of Invention."

It was the necessity for an honest, reliable blood purifier and tonic that brought into existence Hood's Sarsaparilla. It is a highly concentrated extract prepared by a combination, proportion and process peculiar to itself and giving to Hood's Sarsaparilla unequalled curative power. Its wonderful record of cures has made it America's Greatest Medicine.

Rosy Cheeks — "I have good health and rosy cheeks, thanks to Hood's Sarsaparilla. It builds me up and saves doctor bills." Mary A. Burke, East Clair St., Indianapolis, Ind.

When the Frost is on the Punkin.

JAMES WHITCOMB RILEY.

When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock,
And you hear the kye-cuck and gobble of the struttin' turkey cock,
And the cluckin' of the guineys, and the cluckin' of the hens,
And the rooster's hallycooer as he tiptoes on the fence;
O, it's then the times a feller is a feelin' at his best.

With the risin' sun to greet him from a night of peaceful rest,
As he leaves the house, bare-headed, and goes out to feed the stock,
When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

They're something kindo' hearty-like about the atmosphere
When the heat of summer's over and the coolin' fall is here—
Of course we miss the flowers and the blossoms on the trees,

And the humble of the hummin'-birds and buzzin' of the bees;
But the air's so appetizin', and the landscape through the haze
Of a crisp and sunny morning of the early autumn days

Is a pictur' that no painter has the colorin' to mock—
When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

The husky, rusty rustle of the tossels of the corn,
And the raspin' of the tangled leaves, as golden as the morn;
The stubble in the furrows—kindo' lonesome-like, but still
A-pleasin' to us of the barns they grewed to fill:

The strawstack in the meadow, and the reaper in the shed;
The horses in their stalls below—the clover overhead—
O, it's a heart-a-lickin', like the tickin' of a clock,
When the frost is on the punkin and the fodder's in the shock.

Owosso lodge No. 81 Knights of Pythias went to Durand Thursday evening to confer the third degree for the Durand lodge. A special train took the members over the Ann Arbor line.

Len Black, driver of the New National baggage wagon, has not been living in peace and harmony with Joe Amos recently, and open hostilities were entered into at the Ann Arbor station, Tuesday morning, during which Black's face was disfigured worse than the map of south Africa seems likely to be at present. Dr. Philpen was called to attend his injuries and he took to his bed, but has sworn out a warrant for the arrest of Mr. Amos, charging him with assault and battery. He also threatens to sue Amos for personal damages.

The following is a list of letters advertised at the Owosso post office: Ben Fattion, Mrs. M. L. Gardner, Mrs. J. A. Gardner (2), Mrs. Hugh Hannah, Chas. Roberts (2), Matie Richman, Arthur Milcher, Prof. De Lamarr, Mrs. Etta Drake, Mable Hartwell, C. R. Looney.

Senator Allison's Views.

It is the purpose of the republican party, which has constantly sustained our system of sound money based upon the gold standard, to continue to maintain it—all of it, whether silver or paper—at a parity with and convertible directly or indirectly into gold at the will of the holder, and it will be maintained in the future, not by the voice of party, but by the voice of the American people, and the laws upon our statute books upon this subject will be invigorated and strengthened to maintain it and preserve it, and to make it impossible for any secretary of the treasury or any president, by his own fiat and without positive affirmative legislation of congress, to force upon the people in some hour of temporary depression or of national slumber the depreciated standard of silver money, or place any of our money at premium or discount.

The Gold Standard.

Los Angeles (Cal.) Express.

The Express several days ago called attention to the fact that the committee having the matter in charge had practically agreed upon a bill putting the gold standard in the law, and that all the indications were that it would pass both branches of congress. Absolutely nothing can be said against this law by any advocate of sound money, while every argument is in its favor.

But just the same, the measure has its opponents, and they are covertly making a fight to defeat the bill. According to the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Post, a dangerous plot to sidetrack monetary legislation at the coming session of congress has been uncovered. The plot, says the correspondent, is understood to have the approval and indorsement of influential republican senators and representatives, men who will vote to put the gold standard in the law if they have to, but who are recognized as lukewarm in the cause.

The conspiracy, it is alleged, takes the form of an argument in which it will be plausibly urged that a sound money element, representing the balance of power in several close states and districts can only be held to the republican party in 1900 by leaving the question in an unsettled and incomplete state when congress takes its recess next summer, and that actual legislation would be fatal to republican success. This project finds its inception in the cowardice of senators and representatives, who feel that in their individual cases they can better afford to shirk than to face the issue boldly.

The pleadings will represent that the moment congress either incorporates "gold" in the written law, or so ties the hands of the secretary of the treasury that it can not endanger the gold standard by official action, 50,000 gold democrats will be deprived of incentive or excuse for further alliance with the republican party; that their mission of desertion will have been accomplished and that they will thereafter either stay away from the polls or return to former political affiliations. With a republican senate for four or six years and a secretary of the treasury made powerless for harm, the gold democrats will, it is urged, lose their horror of a free silver President in the White House and either return to their first love or remain away from the polls.

Such an argument is simply puerile. The republican party stands committed to the gold standard and sound money, and no time should be lost in incorporating it in the law. The party is strong enough to carry out its pledges to the people and it is not believed that the President will permit himself to be held back by any such flimsy excuse as that given. Congress should settle this important question at the earliest possible moment after convening.

University Notes.

The Varsity eleven was defeated in Philadelphia by the University of Pennsylvania Saturday by the close score of 19 to 11.

The liquid air plant given to the University of Michigan by Charles F. Brush, of Cleveland, has passed the New York customs office and will probably reach Ann Arbor in time to be in working order by the last of the month.

President James B. Angell, of the University of Michigan, is a member of the committee appointed by the National Council of Education to consider the advisability of applying to congress for the establishment of a national university in Washington.

The present enrollment of students at the University is larger than the total enrollment for any preceding year in its history. Tuesday evening Nov. 7th it reached 3,240. The same is true of the law department where the enrollment already exceeds the greatest enrollment of any previous year by thirty-six.

Professor V. M. Spalding of the botanical department of the University of Michigan is the author of a government bulletin, issued by the division of forestry, entitled The White Pine. It is an exhaustive treatment of the white pine tree, its geographical distribution, natural history, growth and development. The dangers from diseases and insects, the forest management of the white pine industry and the character of the wood, also receive due attention. The data used in this report are from investigations begun fourteen years ago. Over 700 trees were examined in different parts of the United States.

The Spanish mortar taken from Morro Castle, Santiago de Cuba, and obtained for a class memorial by the class 1899, will soon be fittingly mounted near its present position at the base of the campus flag-staff. Specifications for this purpose have been prepared by Professor M. E. Cooley of the engineering department of the University. If his plans are followed the old cannon will present much the same appearance as when it was used to fire upon the United States battleships during the recent war with Spain. The foundation will be of concrete, eleven feet in length, approached by two steps and of such height that the top of the mortar will be about five feet above the ground. The mortar will point upward at an angle of about forty-five degrees.

The Rev. Andrew Ten Brook, who was professor of moral and intellectual philosophy in the University of Michigan during the years 1844-51, and librarian 1850-51, 1864-77, died at Detroit, November 5. He was the author of a book entitled American State Universities and the University of Michigan, published in 1875. For a number of years he acted as associate editor for the Michigan State Pioneer Society. From 1860 to 1893 he was consul at Munich. Prof. Ten Brook has even up to the last year been one of the most familiar figures on the University campus and particularly to those who have frequented the library much where he usually had a pile of books under his arm, which seemed all out of proportion to the strength of his aged and feeble frame. Every University man in Owosso who remembers the kindly face lighted by the keen intellect behind it cannot help feeling that a part of the University itself has been taken away with him, altho he has not been officially connected with it for years.

What Do You Pay For Coffee

That's a practical question! Are you paying too much? If you're paying a high price, you're probably paying as much for a name as for the coffee.

Arbuckles' Coffee is a plain, substantial coffee with an excellent aroma and delicate flavor, sold in a substantial way at an honest price. You don't want better than good coffee, do you? You can't afford to pay twice the price that's necessary, can you? Then why not get Arbuckles'? Get right down to the coffee question and settle it now. By buying many millions of pounds we buy the best of many large plantations at a low price. We sell it to you at a low price because we would rather sell millions of pounds at a low profit than a thousand pounds at a big profit.

Arbuckles' Roasted Coffee

is the daily beverage on millions of tables. Why not on yours? There's an additional consideration in the many substantial and useful articles that go with the coffee. Ask your grocer for it. He'll tell you all about it. If he endeavors to substitute an imitation, insist on getting the genuine Arbuckles'—or go elsewhere.

On account of the funeral of Sydney Archer last Sunday, Rev. J. P. Varner could not speak at the men's meeting. Rev. E. W. White took his place, giving a splendid talk full of practical advice.

Rev. Varner will speak at this service next Sunday at 4 o'clock. It will be a meeting full of interest. All men are invited to attend.

Output of the Klondike

No one will ever know exactly how much gold was taken from the Klondike fields the past season. Since the English government imposed a royalty, the miners have adopted all sorts of ruses to evade the law. It is rather difficult to dodge taxes, but it is more difficult to dodge a bad cold and the grip at this time of year. When the system is weakened by such attacks, and the blood becomes thin and impoverished, the best medicine to take is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. This remedy builds up the system. Besides regulating digestion, it overcomes constipation. It is good for the kidneys and liver, too, stimulating these organs into their proper performance of their functions. Nothing is so good for malaria.

CLOTH CARRIES, PERFUME.

Novelty That One Dressmaker Is Dividing Among Her Favorite Customers.

A dressmaker, recently returned from Paris, brought a small but very valuable piece of red material, which she is going to divide sparingly among her most favored customers. After awhile, says the Chicago Inter Ocean, it will be accessible to a larger circle, as the material will ultimately be put upon the market. Just now the manufacturers have not been able to complete the material in the way they desire. Now the only color in which this material can be made is light red, of the hue that the farmer wears when he has rheumatism, or did wear until a short time ago. Later it will be possible to impart the merits of this invention to other colors, although it would probably become just as popular in the present red monotony. For this cloth can retain in the most wonderful way the odors of perfume. It is expected to solve, in the best fashion, the problem as to the best way in which to perfume dresses.

Many other expedients have been tried, such as small sachets sewed in the draperies, but none of them is so simple as this cloth, which is laid in the lining or otherwise concealed about the waists. It diffuses a delicate odor, which is never exhausted, however long the time of a gown's use may be. Various scents may be given to the cloth, and the number will be increased as the makers complete the details of the work.

When the material goes on the market there is little danger that this new invention will ever become common. The price is prohibitive to any but women who are willing to pay for what they want, whatever it may cost.

Help... Nature

Babies and children need proper food, rarely ever medicine. If they do not thrive on their food something is wrong. They need a little help to get their digestive machinery working properly.

SCOTT'S EMULSION OF COD LIVER OIL

WITH HYPOPHOSPHITES OF LIME & SODA

will generally correct this difficulty.

If you will put from one-fourth to half a teaspoonful in baby's bottle three or four times a day you will soon see a marked improvement. For larger children, from half to a teaspoonful, according to age, dissolved in their milk, if you so desire, will very soon show its great nourishing power. If the mother's milk does not nourish the baby, she needs the emulsion. It will show an effect at once both upon mother and child.
